BITS FROM THE PITs

- Great to see so many well dressed people turn out for the presentation night. Seems Alan Joy never had a hot green shirt before that took him from 'Kermit' to 'Capsicum' then on to 'Slime' !!!!!!!!! YUK!
- How good was it to see Mark Russi out and about after his accident. Mark still has a long way to go but well done mate and thanks for your help drawing the spa raffle. Check Mark out pictured with his dad Phil in this issue.
- I've heard of people talking "tongue in cheek" before but Mark Potter went one better on the night with stereo "tongues in ear"!! What the????

- Forget "Simon & Garfunkel" look out for "Alexander and James" Get your tickets at 'The Joy Boys Café' for "Pickleyachtstock 2005" .....be there. See pic below.

- They say you learn things from wise old heads! Children especially take note of the elder generation, or do they? When riding your dirt bike, always wear a helmet. Always wear your gloves and proper riding gear. Not if you're one certain flatbottom driver who should practice what he preaches. "I'll show you how to do it" he said, no helmet or any other gear on. Too bad he didn't listen to the kids when they all stood and told him so after he crashed the bike into a fence, cutting his knee and receiving cuts and bruises. You idiot!
- Seems a certain 'Flat Out' drag boat racer will be stepping up to the plate this coming season as well. Seems the 'Super Stock' class might be left behind and 'Pro Comp' beckons. Look out for this tough baby to add to the ever growing numbers entering the class.
